

ESTHER 1-6

WEEK IN REVIEW + FAMILY GUIDE

WEEK IN REVIEW

We head to the book of Esther, where we clearly see the hand of God at work all over this story. The key idea for this book is providence. Providence means God is guiding what happens, even when we don't see it. Did you know that God is not mentioned once in the book of Esther? However, God's handprints are all over it. He is in control and working, even when we don't see it. We see in Esther the threat of the Jews in chapters 1-4, and the triumph of the Jews and their protection in chapters 5-10. The story begins in Persia. There is a king named Xerxes (also spelled Ahasuerus), who throws the party of all parties. For 180 days, the king shows off his wealth and power and strength to the kingdom. At the end of this, he had too much to drink and orders his wife to come out so that he can show her off to everyone. His wife was named Queen Vashti, and she refused to do what the king asked.

As a result of the Queen's disobedience, King Xerxes ordered for her to be replaced with a new queen. What the king did was hold a beauty pageant to find a replacement for Queen Vashti. He chose a young woman named Esther. Esther was Jewish and she was adopted because her father and mother had died. She did not reveal her family background, because Mordecai (her cousin who raised her) asked her to do so. There is a plot to kill the king, but Mordecai reports it and this was recorded. There is an evil man who is an official named Haman. Haman had a plot to kill the Jews, and the king agrees to do this on a chosen day.

Mordecai hears about this plot and urges Esther, who is in a position of power, to do something about it. Mordecai tells her, "For if you remain silent at this time, relief and deliverance for the Jews will arise from another place, but you and your father's family will perish. And who knows but that you have come to your royal position for such a time as this?" Esther chose to have courage and approach the king. Courage is choosing to do what is right even when you feel scared. Esther invites the king and Haman to a banquet. That night, the king can't sleep and orders his royal records to be read to him. He realizes that Mordecai wasn't rewarded for saving his life. Haman came in to ask the king for permission to kill Mordecai, but before he asks, the king has Haman put on a parade to honor Mordecai! What a plot twist! We will see God's protection of His people continue to play out throughout the rest of the book.
